

Train the Trainer

The ability to train staff is an essential skill for managers. This course is designed to help those relatively new to training make an effective contribution to the training and development of others in a practical and systematic way.

It gives participants the basic skills and knowledge needed as a foundation on which they can develop their specialist skills.

course details

Course Duration

Two Days

Course Cost

£1600

Maximum Delegates

This course is designed for up to 10 delegates

Training Location

Training can be run at any venue

Participant Profile

This course is aimed at:

- Managers and Team Leaders who wish to develop a training capability for themselves and their team
- HR and Training professionals

Key Topics

Participants will cover:

- Honey and Mumford
- How people learn
- KOLB's learning styles
- Planning, preparation, objectives and outcomes
- Systematic approach to training delivery
- The power of feedback

Course Benefits

On completion of this course, participants will understand:

- The different learning styles and how to accommodate them
- The Learning Cycle and principles of training design
- How to produce a trainer sessions plan
- How to demonstrate skills and effectiveness as a trainer

client testimonial

The day was well structured and contained a lot of useful information. As a result, I have developed more confidence with the delivery of training sessions.

Louise Dibble, Wales Millennium Centre

You may also be interested in...

Recruitment Selection

Designed to give participants the tools and techniques which will enable them to manage a structured, fair and effective selection process.

Managing Performance

Designed to identify the importance of utilising a performance management methodology and give participants the skills to install one.